The cost of coverage is going up and up

Cities may soon face their own insurance crisis

Cities, like doctors, may soon be facing their own insurance crisis.

Liability rates for public agencies have been increasing gradually over the past decade but thoe premiums are now increasing by leaps and bounds and there is no end in sight to the upward trend.

This year, it will cost Pleasanton 136 percent more to pay for nearly $5.6 million of coverage while Livermore is paying 40 percent more than it did last year for $11 million in insurance.

The situation facing the cities is not quite the same as that which caused a major crisis in the medical industry this year, but both are symptomatic of the trend towards more litigation, higher settlements and the present fiscal instability of the insurance industry as a whole.

Some cities and many school district are already "uninsurable," Ben Fernandez of Cooper McKenzie Murphy, Pleasanton's insurance carrier, said, unless they accept high deductible clauses in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Fernandez said insuring of public agencies has "always been kind of a limited market" but he added, of the 10 or 12 companies that used to handle such insurance, only three or four remain state-wide.

Fernandez places the blame on liberal legislation that places more and more of a burden on public agencies, on insurance judgements that are "too large" against cities and on the "precarious" position of the insurance industry.

Fernandez added part of that precariousness is due to bad management within the industry but he said, "The simple truth is they've paid out more than they've taken in."

Increased settlements awarded by judges and juries to accident victims is part of the reason for increased premiums but there is another cause that makes public agencies particularly susceptible to lawsuits.

Pleasanton City Attorney Ken Scheidig said, not only are citizens becoming more aware of their constitutional rights and, consequently, seeking redress through the courts more often, but recent legislation has broadened the scope of public agencies and made them subject to a whole newbreed of litigation — the environmental lawsuit.

"There are more pressures on public entities now than in the past to impose greater restrictions on development," Scheidig added and noted that all of the environmental legislation has come down since 1970.

That legislation ranges from the McCarthy Act of 1972, which gives cities the right to deny tract maps if the developments will cause "substantial environmental damages" to the California Environmpntal Quality Act and the as yet unspecified "mitigation measures" being proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Those regulations, many of which have not been tested in court, leave cities open to suits by environmentally concerned citizens if developments are approved and to suits by developers if their projects are denied.

Scheidig also noted a change in the attitude of the courts which has aided citizens in legal battles with public entities.

Some cities, Scheidig said, which find themselves "uninsurable" such as Berkeley, have already gone to a "self-insurance" program.

That really means no insurance at all, he added, but rather an in-city pool that is set up to pay claims. In such a situation, all claims filed against the municipality are handled by the city's legal staff rather than by the insurance carrier.

While the cities' situation has not yet reached crisis proportions, if the present trends continue, they may soon be facing the same plight as California's doctors.

He was taken to Valley Memorial Hospital where his condition was listed as satisfactory.

Good news and bad news on construction

LIVERMORE - City officials are hoping to have the "P" Street and North Livermore Avenue underpasses open before the Christmas rush.

That's the good news. The bad news is that the contractor working on the project could finish it as late as next May without being penalized.

Livermore's public works director, Dan Lee,, has sent a memo to the beleaguered merchants along the route of the railroad relocation project which, when finished, is planned to bring new life into downtown Livermore.

Lee's memo says, "It should be noted that the contractor has enough allowable working days remaining that a completion in April or May of 1976 would not cause him to suffer a penalty. However, there is a good chance that he can complete the work much sooner and the under passes will be open to traffic some time before the completion of the whole project.

"Both the city and contractor have arbitrarily set a target date of Dec. 1, 1975 to have the underpasses open to traffic because of the desire to be ahead of the Christmas rush. We know that the target date may be optimistic and will depend on reasonably good weather, no strikes and availability of materials," Lee warns.

He adds, "At the moment, we are about 20 days behind schedule due to difficulties with the recent track work. We have hopes that the contractor can make up time on the Dec. 1 target date."

Lee goes on to say there is "no practical way" to make sure the roads are open for the Christmas season. Most of the tasks to be done must go in sequence, he explains.

Lee says, "When the required working says are added up for all of the tasks in sequence, it comes to Dec. 1 or later. The contractor will not double-shift the work because that would be more expensive and he has adequate time so that he is not forced by his contract to do so. However, it is in the contractor's interest to complete the work as early as possible.

"If the city were to pay extra for the double-shift, the cost could be quite excessive and it is the type of expenditure that is diffcult to control. The project budget also does not anticipate the added cost."

Lee says delays in acquiring the right- of-way during the early stages of the project set the timetable back.

At this point, says Lee: The southernmost underpass structures have been completed at P Street and North Livermore and the tracks have been routed over them. The contractor is now working on he structuresadjacent to the north where the tracks were located.

The Murrieta Boulevard track crossing will be closed today, tomorrow and Thursday while the tracks and railroad signals are shifted a short distance to the north. A traffic policeman will be directing L Street traffic during rush hour, since that will be the city's only thoroughfare during the three days.

Lee concludes, "Except for the lag behind the Dec. 1 schedule... the project is moving along quite well at this time."

District 1 key issue

Board to mull over boundaries

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND - The Alameda County Board of Supervisors will begin thrashing out new district boundaries at a public hearing at 2:30 p.m. today.

Reapportionment of the five supervisorial districts is necessary because of the rapid growth of District 1 (which includes the valley). That district, represented by Pleasanton's Don Murphy, has grown by nearly 70,000 residents since 1970.

Supervisor Tom Bates was appointed by the board to work up alternative redistricting proposals and two weeks ago, he presented six alternates to the board.

Those six proposals, and possible modifications of them, will be considered by the supervisors at this afternoon's hearing.

The board has tentatively scheduled a decision on redistricting for the evening meeting of Aug. 5.

Although there has been preliminary discussion of whether the the county should contain seven supervisorial districts and have a seven-member board, that will not be an item for discussion this afternoon.

Any change in the number of supervisorial districts would require a change in the county charter and could not be put before the voters before next year.

The new district boundaries will be in effect for the June 1976 election, at which time the terms of Supervisors Don Murphy, Tom Bates and Joseph Bort will expire.

During the board's morning session, which begins at 9 a.m., an option agreement on the Sunol Boulevard hill site in Pleasanton, proposed as the location for the East County Government Center, will be considered.

That 53-acre site has received the endorsement of the City of Pleasanton but has been questioned by Livermore and the Valley Community Services District as being too inaccessible and too expensive.

Preliminary cost estimates indicate the land would cost $370,000 and the facility would cost nearly $1.5 million to build.

A total of $537,000 has been set aside in this year's county budget for architectural fees for the project, which is planned for construction in the 1976-77 fiscal year.

The supervisors will also discuss a letter from Fred Dierker, executive officer of the Regional Water Quality Control Board, concerning potential large scale use of individual sewage disposal systems in the unincorporated areas of the Livermore Valley.

The board will also consider a recommendation of the Alameda County Bicentennial Commission that a resolution be adopted extending greetings to the President of Mexico regarding the 200th anniversary of the de Anza Expedition to Alameda County

The supervisors meeting begins at 9 a.m. today in the Alameda County Administration Building, 1221 Oak St.

Miller explains reasons behind higher fees

LIVERMORE - The reasoning behind proposed increases in various city services, fines and licensing were explained to The Times by Councilman Don Miller, proponent of many of the hikes.

In the course of an all-day budget study session last month, Miller suggested increasing traffic fines, dogs licenses, green fees at the Las Positas Golf Course and tie-down charges at the municipal airport.

He also recommended levying a franchise tax of ½ percent on the airport and licensing cats.

Some of the councilman's ideas will be discussed and possibly approved at the next budget study session July 21 while other suggestions will be brought up at future city council meetings.

Traffic fines have remained relatively unchanged although both the population of Livermore and the cost-of-living have increased, Miller noted.

"Nobody likes to pay fines — nor do I, I get mad — but nonetheless one would expect them to go up with the cost of living, particularly when a major deficit in the General Fund is to make up for that city function that the traffic funds pay for: namely, lighting our streets," explained the councilman.

Street lighting costs have increased from $164,000 last year to $200,000 this year.

He also pointed out that the deterrent of a $10 fine in 1940 for running a stop sign has decreased by a factor of three when still in effect in 1975.

The City of Livermore does not directly control traffic fines. Their imposition is the function of the municipal judge. Miller's suggestion, if endorsed by the majority of the council, would result in a recommendation to the judge that stiffer traffic fines be imposed on offenders.

A total of $50,000 is budgeted for animal control with $18,000 supplied from animal licenses and fees and the remaining $32,000 coming from the General Fund.

Miller's line of reasoning for increased fees is that the pound should pay for itself.

"The pound shouldn't be subsidized by those without pets. The deficit really should come out of animal licensing fees," Miller stated.

"My guess is that animal licensing fees haven't gone up with the cost-of-living either but the salaries we pay for animal control officers goes up with the cost-of-living," he added.

When it came to the Las Positas Golf Course, Miller got adamant. He contended golf is a game played at most by 2 percent of Livermore's population and therefore is a luxury game.

(Greens Committee Chairman Jerry Atwell claims that 10 percent of the city's citizens play golf.)

"The golf course (Las Positas) has been subsidized by the citizens of Livermore in its approximately 10 years of operation to the tune of a half a million dollars," he said.

Miller argued that past councils intended the golf course to repay the money once the course started showing a profit.

"The way to increase revenue at the golf course is to increase green fees. You can't increase your green fees beyond reasonable competitiveness with surrounding courses but you can't keep it low just to keep the golf course operation even," he said.

Miller defended the levying of a franchise tax on the airport as a reasonable business practice.

"The city is a municipal corporation and the corporation aspect is something that ought to be stressed. The city is a big business and should be run in a business-like way.

"If you have subsidaries like the golf course and airport and water department which are capable of returning a reasonable profit with competitive rates, then that profit should be returned to all the owners of that corporation — ALL the citizens of Livermore," he explained.

He also noted that returns from the profitable enterprises keeps the property taxes down.

Referring to hikes in tie-down fees, Miller said he didn't want the city to be "out of line" with fees and "bear down on fliers," but on the other hand Livermore should not be expected to keep rates low and not provide a return to the taxpayer.

Like the golf course, the councilman views the airport as a luxury service but in the latter case it is only for a few hundred people who fly.

Other increases under consideration by the council as proposed by City Manager Bill Parness in his budget message are the doubling of both the monthly sewer service charges (already approved) and the hotel/motel bed tax, an increase in the water franchise tax from 2 to 5 percent and a hike from 2 to 5 percent as soon as possible the franchise tax levied on Oakland Scavenger Company.

Miller indicated he supported the water department franchise increase on the basis of his golf course and airport arguments. He also said he was willing to increase the garbage franchise "in principle" although it is not clear exactly how the city would be able to accomplish the hike.

Smoking on campus viewed by trustees

A report from that committee charged with considering on-campus smoking areas for students will be heard by the Amador Valley School District board of trustees, meeting tonight at 7:30 at the district offices on South Main Street.

Local school boards must decide if such student smoking areas are to be established, under terms of new state legislation. The conditions and control of such areas are left to community control.

The school board will also authorize going to bid for a number of construction items, including new lights and rigging for the Amador Auditorium; turf and sprinklers at Foothill High School; gymnasium bleachers at Foothill High; parking lot pavement at Amador High; book detection system at Dublin High; classroom furniture at Foothill High.

Levi lifter faces court

LIVERMORE - A combined investigation by Livermore police, Alameda County Sheriff's Deputies and the Federal Bureau of Investigation resulted in the arrest Sunday of a 45-year-old Dublinite on charges of pirating a truck load of Levis.

FBI agents San Leandro police arrested "without incident" Doyle Brewer, Sr., of Dublin, on charges of possession of a stolen interstate shipment. He was arraigned yesterday in San Francisco before U. S. Magistrate Richard Goldsmith.

A cab and 45-foot trailer containing 793 carloads of Levis manufactured in the South and destined for a Santa Clara wharehouse were stolen from the Transcon Freight Lines San Jose parking lot on May 24. The rig — empty — was found in Pleasanton two days later.

Some $55,000 worth of the estimated $230,000 in stolen pants have been recovered, Livermore detective Dan Killeen said, adding additional arrests are expected.

Shortly after the theft a man identifying himself as "Doug Breuner" called the Associated Press and told them the Levis had been "liberated" and were being held hostage "against the Haas family because of their crimes against the Jewish people."

The Haas family owns the San Francisco based firm.

FBI spokesmen now say the theft was purely commercial and had no p nl overtones.

Brewer faces a maximum $10,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment

Most successful auction ever

PLEASANTON - Results of the 1975 Junior Livestock Acution at the Alameda County Fair reveal that this year's event is the most successful ever held, according to Darrel Sweet, head of the Livestock Department.

Although the gross revenue realized by the auction was down slightly from last year, there were fewer steers sold, and since the larger animals bring about $800 each, compared with around $80 for a lamb and $160 for a hog, the individual prices were much higher this year, Sweet said.

The total raised by the auction was $103,488, compared with $106,901 last year. There were 399 animals sold, including 65 beef, 260 sheep and 74 hogs. Last year, a total of 376 animals were sold.

The highest price paid for an animal this year was $6 a pound paid for a 4-H Champion Lamb raised by Jamie Silva of Newark and purchased by Silvery Transportation of Newark.

The following champion stock went at the auction:

Murderess flees Santa Rita

PLEASANTON - A 23-year-old woman convicted last month of murder, kidnapping and robbery escaped Sunday night from Santa Rita's maximum security facility.

Alameda County Sheriff's Deputies say Curticia Miles broke through the floor and slipped out a crawl space under her barracks sometime before a 10 p.m. bed check.

Miles' jail jacket was found outside the fence near I-580, but deputies don't yet know if she was picked up by a motorist.

Two other women prisoners with Miles in the facility were being questioned, deputies said.

She was convicted June 24 of fatally shooting Geraldine Bonnifield, 19, and critically wounding her sister, Renee Bonnifield, 22, on Sept. 22 when she forced the two at gunpoint to drive her to Richmond.

Renee was wounded and left in Richmond. Geraldine was found dead the next morning in Oakland's Providence Hospital parking lot.

Miles was awaiting her July 23 sentencing at Santa Rita instead of the tighter-security county court house jail because of the lack of women's facilities at the Oakland facility.

She is described as black, five-foot four-inches, 100-pounds with red-blonde tips to her brown hair.

Deputies said she had visitors Sunday, but refused to release their names. "The investigation is continuing," a spokesman said, adding an all points bulletin had been released.

Sunol man to request variance

Alameda County Bureau

Charles Reeves of Sunol will appear before the Alameda County Zoning Administrator Wednesday to ask for a variance in the building code.

Reeves wants to construct a small building at 242 Kilkare Rd. w frontage on the street — as required — before putting up a dwelling unit with the proper frontage.

Zoning Administrator Dick Flynn will also have to with six requests for variances on signs, all in the Castro Valley-Hayward Area.

The signs are in violation of county codes, just as many billboards throughout the county. The billboard companies are in the process of testing the county ordinance in court.

Flynn will also have to decide on a request for a 115 foot radio tower near Castro Valley on Palomares Road.

Close watch scheduled over food stamp issue

Closer watch over food stamp programs will result in more efficient operations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture hopes.

An amendment to food stamp regulations requires states to develop systems for monitoring and improving their administration of food stamp programs.

The Valley food stamps office is located at 1779 Barcelona Drive, Livermore, in the Good Samaritan office.

The amendment is one of several steps the USDA Food and Nutrition Service is taking to improve administration of the food stamp program. These include more emphasis on the food stamp quality control system and on increased service to recipients.

States will annually review their state-level operations and the operations of local areas that issue $500,000 or more in bonus food stamps a month.

Smaller local areas will be reviewed once every two years.

Sandia scientists join search for controlled nuclear reactor

CTR is a widely used technical acronym that is rapidly becoming a part of everyday language. It stands for controlled thermonuclear reactor, and the phrase embodies the world's long-range hope for cheap and unlimited energy.

There is a long way to go.

No scientist seriously expects to see a fusion reactor producing commercial power this century. However, considerable progress is being made.

Of the many schemes for fusion reactors, the Tokamak device is the current leading contender. (Tokamak: A Russian coinage translating roughly to toroidal chamber magnetic confinement.) The doughnut-shaped machine holds and heats reactive isotopes of hydrogen within a magnetic field.

The recent development of neutral beams (beams of ions that have been recombined with electrons to become electrically neutral) has provided a method which, theoretically at least, could give the plasma inside the Tokamak the extra "zap" to produce fusion reaction and a working reactor. As the magnetic field of the Tokamak compresses the plasma, neutral beams (unaffected by the magnetic field) could pump more energy into the plasma.

This is the thrust of current CTR research.

Members of Sandia Laboratories' Applied Research Directorate have undertaken a study basic to the success of the CTR program. The Energy Research and Development Administration has provided $150,000 for the study. Dr. Walter Bauer of Physical Research Division and Dr. George J. Thomas of Exploratory Materials Division are evaluating surface erosion, bulk damage and gas re-emission characteristics of materials under consideration for use as the inner wall or so-called first wall of the toroidal Tokamak device.

Although the heated plasma of a fusion reactor would never touch it, the first wall will have to withstand energized nuclear particles and other radiation emanating from an environment never before created on earth except within a thermonuclear explosion.

The first wall and certain components will be subjected to large influences of hydrogen-isotope and helium ions with energies between zero and 100 keV. The neutral D and T currents the first wall could experience are between 10-14 and 10-16 particles/cm2 sec with helium ion current of 10-12 to 10-13 ions/ cm2 sec.

Experiments already conducted show that potential first wall materials may rapidly blister or exfoliate under these conditions. This surface flaking not only results in quick erosion of the wall, but also contaminates the plasma and may halt the fusion reaction. The poisoning of plasmas by wall material is currently a matter of concern to researchers in several of the CTR laboratories such as Princeton.

Sandia researchers are using a 450 kV positive ion accelerator to bombard the materials.

Fair fared well nationally

If you stop and analyze the figures, the Alameda County Fairgrounds race track could be the most successful of its kind in the nation. At least according to statistics race director Everett Nevin picked up last week

Nevin, in the midst of wrapping up the case book on this year's fair meeting, said the Pleasanton track rivaled some of America's majors during the long July 4th weekend. The statistics were simply another indicator of the surge in popularity of county fair racing.

As reported in the Racing Form, Nevin said, Pleasanton took the fourth highest pari-mutuel handle nationally among tracks featuring threehorse breeds in the program, quarter horses , Appaloosas, and thoroughbreds.

The track handled $2.7 million on Friday and Saturday of the Independence Day holiday.

The top draw that weekend was Delaware park, which surpassed $3 million. Detroit also handled more than $3 million, and Long Acres, $2.76 milliom

The difference, however, is that those tracks operated on Sundays as well. Had Pleasanton held a Sunday program, the figures indicate it could have been the nation's most successful track among those with the three different breeds.

That's pretty solid evidence of Pleasanton's magnetism as a summer racing center. But there's more.

Nevin said yesterday that this year's handle at the races was up 10.3 per cent over last year. Attendance jumped 9.4 per cent. The daily handle averaged just less than $1 million per day.

"It shows a pretty healty situation," Nevin understated yesterday from his fairgrounds racing office. "The horsemen were happy."

Then, displaying a bit of surprise himself, Nevin added; "Who would ever think it would be up this year, in the face of the economic situation"

That seems to be the sixty-four dollar question. Why are folks swarming to the track to lay down their hard-earned cash when the cost of everything is up?

The "gas situation," may have offered a partial solution at Pleasanton, Nevin said. People could be balking at the increased costs of summer driving vacations, he pointed out. Perhaps they found it cheaper to seek recreation at the races.

The major factor in increased attendance, however, was weather, Nevin said. Pleasanton enjoyed its coolest, most pleasant two weeks of fair weather in history, and he indicated that this is what lured folks

"That didn't bring them to the races," Nevin pointed out quickly. "They'll come to the races if it's raining. But it got people to the fairgrounds."

Average daily temperature didn't exceed 90 degrees the last two weeks, Everett said. According to his figures, past fairs have been plagued by 100-degree weather. It reached 113 one day back in 1956.

"The people just don't get as irritable and feisty when the weather's cooler," Nevin explained.

The crush of people at the fair forced Nevin to operate his race track at full throttle. Every window was thrown open to accomodate the huge handle. If the trend continues, the fairgrounds track could be in for more expansion.

"Pretty near all the fairs are inadequate," Nevin said. "They were never built to handle the turnout we have now."

Though most of the facts and figures from this year's meet are catalogued by now, the jury is still out on the new quarter horse experiment.

The sprinters were moved from the third to the seventh race this year at most stops on the fair circuit.

"The thoroughbred people are watching it with close eyes," Nevin said, "and so are the quarter horse people. But you have to wait until the end of the season to determine how it worked out. I want to see what happens this week at Santa Rosa when the quarter horses don't run in the seventh race."

Whether the new format will be extended to next year's Alameda County Fair, Nevin couldn't say. It will be determined after the end of this season by fair directors.

Nevin added, however, "It depends on how much the thoroughbred people complain. You know they lost money on it."

Barrett new circuit leader

Susan Barrett departed the Alameda County Fair Saturday as the leading Appaloosa and quarterhorse jockey on the Northern California fair circuit.

Susan, 25, finished the Pleasanton meet, the second of the summer, with 10 wins in 32 mounts, one ahead of star-crossed Dale Long. It was Long who experienced saddle trouble and a crazy crash early in the Pleasanton meet. Nevertheless he had nine winners heading into the first day of the Sonoma County Fair yesterday in Santa Rosa.

James Riley was third with seven winners.

Randy Schacht topped the thoroughbred jockeys with 21 victories in 88 rides. Raul Caballero was second with 19 wins.

Odd Fellows' golf

The Odd Fellows Lodge of Livermore will stage its fifth Open Golf Tournament Sunday, Sept. 21. at Las Positas Golf Course starting at 8 a.m.

Entry fee is $12, and registration deadline is Sept. 18.

Established handicap or blind bogey will be employed. Nine trophies are available for men and women.

Harder's in JC final

Don Harder's Sporting Goods will face either Marin Wheel Alignment or El Katrina Dairy next week in the semi-finals of the Livermore Jaycee Softball Tournament next weekend.

Harder's reached the semis with a thrilling 3-2 win over Granucci's, the defending champs, Sunday.

The two other clubs play Friday for the right to meet Harder's Saturday at 5 p.m. at the Livermore Recreation Center.

Marin Wheel defeated Waterloo Athletic Club, 10-2 Sunday, and also defeated the Vikings, 5-2.

El Katrina Dairy of Turlock stopped Charlie Brown, 6-1.

In other Sunday action, Waterloo stopped Lee Ayers Realty, 10-6, and Charlie Brown stopped Potter's Pizza, 10-8.

In the losers' bracket, the Livermore Cardinals dropped a 5-0 decision to the Cal-West Falcons. Nicolet defeated the Cougars, 6-2, and the Vikings stopped Loyle's Athletic Club, 4-0. Robles Concrete blanked Pizza Arcade, 5-0.

Harder's, the second place team here last year, stopped Granucci's Sunday on the strength of Bill Fort's two runs-batted-in.

The losers attempted to tie the score in the bottom of the seventh inning, but Brian Salemme was cut down sliding at home plate on a throw from left fielder Bill Bolar.

The tournament concludes with games Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Suzanne prevails in Pleasanton net

Top-seeded Suzanne Russ defeated upset-minded Charlotte Trimble, 6-2, 6-1 last weekend in the Pleasanton Racquet Club Women's Singles Championships at Amador Valley High School.

Trimble, the fourth seed in the tournament, had stunned second seeded Marilyn McRitchie in a tightly-contested semi-final match, 0-6, 7-5, 7-5, to reach the finals. Russ left little doubt of her ranking, however, with a straight set triumph.

The consolation finals will be played next Sunday with Sherrie Reed facing Paula Torrano. Reed defeated Cheryl Ewell last weekend, 6-3, 6-1. and Torrano downed Suzanne Eggers, 6-4, 6-0.

Men's play will resume with quarter-final matches this Saturday. Doug Larson faces Dennis Johnson, and Ron Reynoldson meets Steve Torrano in the championship flight.

In the consolations, Phil Newkirk and Tony Shultz will compete, as will Alan Gottesman and B. Molinari.

Two quarter-final matches in each division are yet to be determined.

The men's championships and the women's consolation championship will be decided Sunday at Amador High.

Women's Finals — Russ d. Trimble, 6-2, 6-1

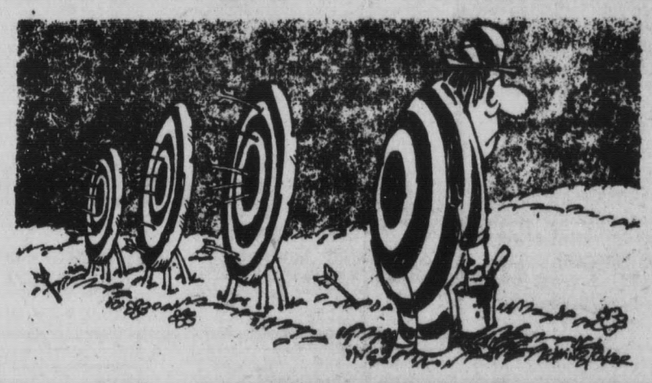

Women's Semi-Finals — Russ d. Gomes, 6-3, 6-2; Trimble d. McRitchie, 0-6, 7-5, 7-5

Everett Nevin at operations central.

From orange crates to a million

Everett Nevin—he helped build Pleasanton racing

From a beginning in 1939 that saw orange crates used for seats, palm fronds on chicken wire to create shade and a four-day total handle of $19,000, Everett Nevin has been an instrumental hand in helping guide horse racing to its SRO crowd and million dollar-plus daily handle status.

Nevin has been associated with racing in Pleasanton as an auditor, assistant manager and now as director of racing since 1939. He is the uncrowned dean of fair racing in Northern California.

The director of racing position is actually an outgrowth of the operations manager position created in 1941. That section now includes about 240 persons....the parking attendants, cashiers, gatemen, grandstand usherettes and racing personnel. The latter numbers 75. The pari-mutuel section numbers as high as 205 on Saturdays and holidays such as July 4.

Nevin initially came to Pleasanton in 1938. There had been a grandstand next to the track but it burned down in 1936, according to Nevin.When racing was instituted, the casual seating arrangements and free gate admission were embellished by four mutuel machines.

The first part of the present grandstand was built in 1940, says Nevin, in recalling those early days when Charley Howard's Seabiscuit trained here. "Howard built a barn right inside where the horseshoe pits are now," remembers Nevin, as a constant flow of humanity comes to his desk with varying problems and recommended solutions.

It is a job that keeps Nevin going from 7 in the morning to 9 or 10 at night.

Thoroughbreds ran in the early days, the harness racers following and the popular quarterhorses being added some 10 years ago. The early cards included a maximum of eight races, compared to the 12 of today.

Evin also served as operations manager at Golden Gate Fields in the early 40s and as assistant manager here until the mid-50s.

The Pleasanton operation was a close knit one of necessity, sort of a family show for a few close friends and devotees.

Not so today.

From that $19,000 wagering total the Alameda County Fair track has come forward to the point that the per capita betting figure is now close to $100. It was $95.62 in 1974.

"People are more prone to bet if they think they can make money," says Nevin. "It seems that the tougher the years are, the more betting there is. Maybe that supports the inflation theory."

Despite the minute-by-minute problems and decisions to be made, Nevin relishes dealing with people more than any other aspect of his job. "We have some employes who have been here 25 years or more. I know a couple who've been here 30."

There are the myriad physical problems, too.....broken pipelines, horsemen complaining about the depth of the track cushion, too much water or not enough on the track....

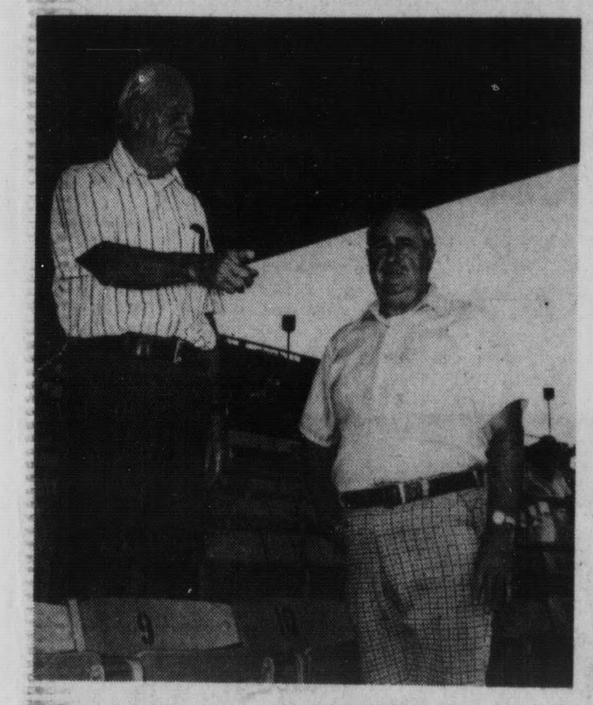

Personnel problems....the employee who's fired for exchanging some passes and then given a second chance after a thorough explanation.... some girls talking to the jockeys....the eternal requests for good seats from "old friends." Was Mary Bacon the first female ever to ride at Pleasanton? No, it was Susan Barrett two years ago. Was Juan Gonzalez the first racing casualty? Yes and no. Jackie Robinson was killed at the Solano County track two years ago but Gonzalez was the first at Pleasanton.

We walk out to the grandstand, along with Nevin and ticket & cashier supervisor Jesse Duffy. It's time for a little picture taking. The grandstand and reserved seats are beginning to fill. The people behind the betting windows are moving faster. The hawkers' cries are beginning to blend into a cacophony of sound.

The air is once again becoming electric. It's almost post time. — by Al Fischer

One of the oldest crafts is model making. Museums have models of boats, household articles and tools made by ancient peoples more than 6,000 years ago. Today model making is a hobby for many people.

Human relations looks at reapportionment

Alameda County Bureau

The Alameda County Human Relations Commission will sponsor a public meeting on the reapportionment of supervisorial districts at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Pleasanton School pistrict offices at 123 Main St.

The Pleasanton hearing is one of five the commission has scheduled throughout the county in the next two weeks.

Supervisor Tom Bates has proposed hiz alternative redistricting plans to the board and the supervisors will hold their own public hearing on those plans this afternoon in the Alameda County Administration building.

The comments made at the informational sessions sponsored by the Human Relations Commission will be forwarded to the supervisors before they make a decision on how they will redistrict. That action is scheduled for the night of Aug. 5.

In addition to the meeting scheduled in Pleasanton, the Human Relations Commission will also hold sessions in Fremont July 16, in Hayward July 22, in Oakland July 23 and in Berkley July 24.

PG&E is out on Alaska's North Slope so you won't be left out in the cold.

Steel "Christmas trees" dot the bleak Prudhoe Bay plain. Oil and natural gas from these wells will eventually flow to consumers in California.

Since 1970, Northern and Central California's demand for natural gas has been growing while supplies have been shrinking.

The price PG&E must pay its suppliers has almost doubled. And they have announced still more price increases.

That's one reason why it's costing you more to heat your home and cook your meals.

Meanwhile, PG&E is searching for new sources of natural gas to avert a serious shortage. Right now, drilling rigs are probing Alaska's rugged North Slope and remote areas of northwestern Canada. And on the high plateaus of the Rocky Mountains, more wells are being drilled.

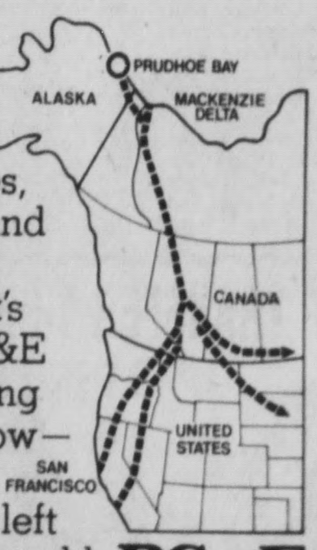

PG&E, independently and in association with others, is investigating ways to make gas from coal, oil, oil shale, tar sands—even garbage, sewage and farm waste. In addition, we're seeking overseas sources of liquefied natural gas.

PG&E Vice President John A. Sproul's job is directing the Company's search for new sources of natural gas.

Solving our natural gas crisis will be expensive—for all of us. But we simply can't run short of gas needed for homes, schools and jobs.

That's why PG&E is planning ahead now—so you won't be left out in the cold.

PG&E is involved in a project to build a natural gas pipeline from the Arctic to California.

Dublin Day at the Fair

Penny Williams, 16, grabbed first place in last Saturday's talent show at the Fairgrounds. The Dublin High junior sang several popular songs to win the senior division. Photo by Peter Griffith.

An exuberant Bill Boone was presented with the Dublin Handicap sixth race victory trophy by Maid of Dublin Louise Hodges and Chamber of Commerce President George Fallon on Friday. Boone's three-year-old fillie, My Sister Erin, won handily in the 1 1/16 mile event, paying $5.80 to win.

Todd Bettencourt of Crane Rudge 4-H and Robin DuPonte of Northstar 4-H anxiously await the judges' decision in the Fair's Livestock Display competition.

Bud Nevis, Sue Finke and Ann Nevis of Tassajan Valley 4-H apply some gentle persuasion when unloading some of the sheep contestants at the Fair.

Toni Aguayo of the Livermore Future Farmers of America grooms her sheep entrant in the Livestock Display category.

Photo Plant owners Ramona Baca (left) and Joan Scwartzman presented some of the checks recovered following a burglary July 9 at their Main Street store. Two youngstsers about 10- and 12-years-old walked inthe back room and made off with two deposit bags containing $600 in cash and checks. While the money hasn't been recovered, most of the checks were found by Ed Green as he bicycled along the railroad tracks. Scwartzman has owned the store since January, and Baca joined her in May. The women are hoping that (honest) customers who wrote checks between July 5 - 9 will return and write new ones. The young entrepreneurs are more than willing to pay the stop-payment fees if their customers will write new checks.

Jenny Fraser and Maj Johnson of Livermore showed the form they used in breaking the world's record for playing cat's cradle, forming the two-handed design a total of 16,100 times over a 21-hour period. Neighbors Dave and Virginia Burton watched the record breakers for the entire period. Jan Pardue and Tanya Bohannon participated equally in the successful record-breaking attempt, bettering the old record of 9,020 times in 20 hours and 30 minutes. They will now send newspaper clippings of their feat to editors of the Guiness Book of World Records for inclusion into the next edition. Photo by Bill Cauble.

Lawrence R. Ryder of Pleasanton is congratulated by entertainer Bill Cosby for receiving a meritorious award in the Commercial Category at Harrah's 10th Swap Meet and Car Show in Reno, Nev. Ryder's entry was a 1929 Ford.

by Bernice Bede Osol

For Tuesday, July 15, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Not the most harmonious day in the home. If an argument develops, better to back off. The odds are against you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Avoid working with tools or mechanical devices if possible today. You tend to be careless. Serious consequences could result.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't attempt anything risky, or if the outcome depends on chance. You're irresponsible today and will make a wrong, costly choice.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll be bearing the burdens of others today. Unfortunately, they won't appreciate what you do in their behalf.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Recharge your batteries by withdrawing to a quiet place alone. You're not in the mood for fun and games.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be wary of a friend who approaches you for a loan. It's possible you could lose the money and the friend, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Through no fault of yours you could lose face among associates in an area which means a lot to you. It's just lousy luck.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your perception is way off-base today. It would be wise to avoid analyzing another's motives. You'll only embarrass yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) An outspoken friend will unthinkingly cause a rift between you and your loved one, or split you and another pal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) Refrain from making any agreement or contract today. You'll be dealing in good faith. Others won't.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be long on words, but short on deeds today. You'll spread yourself too thin and accomplish little.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone may try to talk you into attending a social function. If you go, you'll spend a lot of money on a boring time.

Your Birthday

July 15, 1975

You have a good chance for achievement this coming year if you don't trust only to luck. Hard work and extra effort are your avenues to success.

Opening lead — 3 ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In the language of bids, North's two notrump call is either an absolute, one-round force or a strong invitation for South to bid again.

It is a bid of one less than game.

South's three-diamond call conveys the message, "I don't have the number of high-card points I should have for my initial two-diamond response, nor do I have a running diamond suit. If you want to bid three notrump do so at your own risk."

Change North's hand so that his spades are headed by queen-jack and his jack of diamonds is the ace. He has the same distribution and the same 14 high-card points but he would know that his ace of diamonds may be the key to six or seven diamond tricks. He should bid three notrump.

As it is North realizes that diamonds are not going to run. While South may hold something in one of the unbid suits it is almost certain that he does not hold strength in both, so North passes.

Against a heart lead North would go down one trick at three notrump. He might bring it in against some other lead, but you expect your opponents to defend well and North and South should be happy when South brings his diamond part-score home.

Ask the Jacobys

East bids one spade. You double with:
♠ 2 ♥ K J 5 4 ♦ A K Q 7 2 ♣ A Q 5.

West bids two spades which is passed around to you. What do you do now?

The correct bid is to double again. This second double is still for takeout. If you bid three diamonds you may be losing the heart suit. If you pass you are giving up when you should be going ahead.

Cavalier band asked to compete

LIVERMORE - An added attraction has been obtained for the July 17 drum and bugle corps competition field show here.

Host Tri-Valley Rolayalires director Bob Lawrence has contacted the Cavalier Youth Band from Westminster and invited them to put on an exhibition as part of the Thursday night event at 7:30 p.m. on the Livermore High football field.

The highly acclaimed marching band has won hundreds of trophies since its beginnings in 1973 in Southern California.

The Cavaliers will not be in competition with the seven drum corps competing in the field show, but will perform during the program at Livermore High's football field.

Units from Salem, Ore., Seattle, Wash., Calgary, Canada and from several parts of California will compete. Donation at the gate is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children under 12.

Three park jobs open in district

Looking for a job? The East Bay Regional Park District may be looking for you, if you have a background in one of these fields: repair of diesel-powered equipment; landscape architecture; or park management.

EBRPD has announced three openings: service manager, landscape architect and park zone manager.

The Park district is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer. The big district covers two counties, Alameda and Contra Costa, and includes some 32,000 acres of recreational land.

The manager will supervise and coordinate the activities of shop facilities engaged in the maintenance and repair of automotive, construction and maintenance equipment."

Thorough knowledge of the principles, operation and repair of gasoline and diesel powered equipment is required.

In addition, the applicant must have completed high school and have had four years of experience in the construction or repair of automotive and heavy construction equipment. One year must have included supervision of the work of journeyman mechanics.

Filing deadline for the landscape architect job is July 25. Starting salary is $1,361 a month. Applicants must be licensed landscape architectswith at least five years' experience. The job includes preparation and supervision of advanced planning resource analysis, land-use development planning, capital improvements projects, trail planning and landscape design.

Filing deadline for the park zone manager position is Aug. 1. The salary ranges from $15,083 to $18,333 a year. The job includes supervision of park supervisors, groundspersons, gardeners, park aides, concessionaires, lifeguards, naturalists and auxiliary personnel.

'Parklands in pictures'

Camera buffs unite!

Take your lens out to the wilds of a regional park and shoot a prizewinning picture!

The East Bay Regional Park District, which runs Del Valle in Livermore, Shadow Cliffs in Pleasanton and Sunol Regional Wilderness in Sunol (as well as 26 other parks in Alameda and Contra Costa Counties), is sponsoring a photo contest which ends Oct. 1.

There are two divisions: Junior, for photographers 16 and under, and Senior, for those 17 and older.

Categories are: Monochrome prints of specific subjects; monochrome prints of scenery; color prints of scenery; color slides of specific subjects; color slides of scenery.

Entrants may submit various types of photos in any category but are limited to five entries per person. Only Alameda and Contra Costa County amateur work will be accepted. No composite, multiple image or "trick" photographs will be accepted.

Prints or mounts must be between 5x7 inches and 11x14 inches in overall size. Slides may be either 35 mm or 2¼ inches square and must be "spotted" in lower left-hand corner of the mount for proper viewing direction.

The photographer's name and picture title must be on the back of the entry, not on the face. Included with entries must be a completed entry form, stamped self-addressed return envelope with packing material for return of the entry.

Headquarters for the contest is Coyote Hills regional Park in Fremont. Photos must have been taken from January to September of this year at one of the 29 East Bay Regional Parks and must arrive either by mail or be delivered in person by 4:30 p.m. Oct. 1 to Resident Naturalist Wallace Cromwell at Coyote Hills.

Judging arrangements are not yet complete, but Cromwell says a panel of three judges will probably assess the "Parklands in Pictures" entries. Winners will receive awards and their work will be on view in the Coyote Hills Park Visitors' Center on Nov. 15, the day of judging.

Hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The judges, chosen from the ranks of photographers and naturalists not connected with the park district, will select first, second, third and honorable mention winners in each category by divisions. They will also select a grand winner for each division, for a total of 45 awards.

The prizes have not been decided upon yet.
